

Caswell Developmental Center is North Carolina's oldest residential facility providing compassionate care to people with developmental disabilities in a 38-county region. Because our individuals have disabilities that make it difficult for them to leave our campus, the Center counts on our local community for its support.

Holiday traditions such as Christmas caroling, marching bands, and parades bring special joy to our individuals, who very much enjoy being a spectator to these activities.

We hope to engage the community in extending Kinston's Christmas Parade by asking participants to agree to route their floats, marching bands and activities through Caswell's campus.

If you are willing to participate in the Caswell Developmental Center Christmas parade, after the Kinston Christmas Parade on Saturday, December 10th, please complete this form and return it to:
